

The Zeppelin's Danger.
General Motors in Air
Work.
Little Lehmann Dead.
Poor Mr. Scarface.

THE GIANT ZEPPELIN, after being buffeted by severe storms above the French Alps, landed safely at Cuers, France. The balloon type of airship, offering vast, unnecessary surface for the wind's attack, is a survival of early aviation ideas that might well have been abandoned after the Wright Brothers' demonstration.

An all-metal dirigible, strong enough to resist any wind, may be perfected. But why offer such huge surface for attack when powerful, air-piercing planes can be built to defy any storm?

Most important and gratifying news concerning aviation is an announcement made on the authority of Mr. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors.

With control of the Fokker Company, its landing fields and plant, and of other airplane interests, General Motors will aim at leadership in the air, and the most important field of transportation.

Henry Ford, pioneer in aircraft among great industrialists; Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank, biggest financial concern in America; and Mr. Sloan of General Motors form the great air triad. Other smaller and very able concerns are working in the field. But major development will doubtless be a matter of competition among the three, each possessing practically unlimited engineering and financial power.

The often said "little man" need not weep and say there is no chance for him. He has every chance, and all ahead of him.

One good idea, NEW, may be worth to aviation more than all the factories and billions of the big triad. Flying has barely started. Nothing is final, everything is still experimental.

There is unlimited opportunity for inventive genius in a field of new ideas. Scientific training in aerodynamics is not essential. The man that invented the new machine could not see it. It simply occurred to him that if you put the eye in the needle's point you need not put the needle all the way through and out on the other side.

That is all there was to the sewing machine. The biggest ideas are simple.

Little Lehmann is dead in Berlin, aged 31. One of the greatest artists and teachers of our long period, he taught many and inspired tens of thousands with love of great music.

She ought to have a monument as fine as was ever erected to the memory of any wholehearted man killed.

Philadelphians, who the bootleggers' happy hunting grounds, seem to have reformed with a vengeance.

What is heaven's name? asks Mr. Capone, "w-ald they carry?" Rattles or toy balloons, perhaps?

'Poison Pen' Girl's Life Is Saved

HER PARTY IS GREAT WELCOME

POISON PEN GIRL TRIES SUICIDE

Brought back to life by a man whom she had once threatened, Miss Eva Liberte, 15-year-old Braintree girl charged with writing poison pen letters, today was saved from an attempted suicide by Fire Chief Fred A. Tenney.

The girl had become dependent upon facing a court sentence next Friday in the juvenile court. She plugged the keyhole of her bedroom and turned on the gas. After several minutes, the girl began choking painfully and forced open her door. Running out into the street, she collapsed on the road.

Fire Chief Tenney, one of those who received the mysterious letters threatening his life because he had testified against the girl's father on an arson charge, was summoned.

Using an inhaler, the fire chief revived the girl after a long application.

The girl is now in the Weymouth Hospital in a critical condition. Her father, Stephen Liberte, was notified at the jail where he is serving a term for alleged arson.

The girl does not know that the man she threatened had saved her life.

Mail Clerk Shot by Own Gun

Weymouth, May 18.—Ellsworth Auer, postal clerk in the local post office, today accidentally shot himself in his left foot when he picked up a pistol kept at the postoffice.

Passer of Bad Bill Foiled

An attempt to pass one of the spurious 25 bills now flooding Boston was blocked today by the keen observation of William Sperber, store owner in Dudley st., Roxbury.

26 HORSES IN DERBY TODAY

Louisville, Ky., May 18 (AP).—Derby Day started out with showery, true to the prediction of the weather.

The world actually is a somewhat spacious institution, and according to the last census, a certain manufacturer of Grade A mousetraps still was waiting for it to beat a path to his door, as per predictions.

But that was his mistake. The poor chap only made the world's best mousetrap and undoubtedly will die in beautiful solitude. Louisville today knew the solitude of the bargain basement.

BRAVES SEEK SECOND WIN

Braves Field May 18.—There was a tremendous jam today when 25,000 fans stormed Braves Field to watch the Braves and Giants race.

Fire Drives Two Families to Street

Phila., May 18.—A fire which broke out in a double-decker, the first stage of which the Tribune was a witness, today drove two families, comprising several adults and children, were driven into the street as the result of a fire which badly damaged a house situated at 1338 Plymouth ave., the property of Michael Boro.

Enterprise Council Has Ladies' Night

NEW AND ANCE IN PORTLAND

Portland, Me., May 18.—Planning a new amphibian plane with his fiancée, Miss Ann Morrow, beside him, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh dropped out of the skies to land at the Portland airport at Seabrook this afternoon.

The amphibian, Col. Lindbergh and his bride-to-be were en route to New North Haven, the island of Rockland, where it is believed they will be wed.

Until the amphibian with the "Lone Eagle" at the controls and Miss Morrow by his side swooped over the local airport, the whereabouts of both had been a mystery.

They did not wait their flight after refueling.

Col. Lindbergh bought his big ship a perfect landing on the field which "Lone Eagle" had been opened for his use.

FLIER KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Columbus, O., May 18 (AP).—One man was killed and another slightly injured today when two planes were playing in the national air maneuver were crashed over a North Side residential district and fell in flames.

The crashed man was Lt. E. L. Mendenhall of the 30th Pursuit Squadron, Rockwell Field, San Diego. He died when his biplane crashed in the back yard.

The second man is Lt. Fred Hale, also attached to the 30th Pursuit Squadron. He jumped with a parachute and landed in a river, after which only burns about his face.

His injuries were pronounced.

GLAD TO BE HOME AGAIN

Staff photo shows Cardinal O'Connell coming down the gang plank of the President Wilson while admiring through shouts greetings.

PILGRIMS ARE BACK HOME

Amid the muzzling din of whistles and sirens at harbor craft, and the acclaim of a crowd on the dock, the Cona-lich liner Presidents Wilson, carrying Cardinal O'Connell and his party of Rome pilgrims, arrived at Commonwealth Pier.

Tears were in the eyes of many in the party as they looked on the throng from the deck of the vessel, evidencing their deep feeling at being at home again, after their voyage of inspiration and pleasure.

The first official reception to the returning travelers came an hour or more earlier at quarantine when a group of prominent priests and laymen boarded the liner and extended the greetings of the city and the archdiocese to the party, and salutations to the Cardinal.

"It was a wonderful trip, but we are all happy to be back," said the Cardinal. "Everything was perfect, even the weather."

He added that the Pope was very much pleased to see the Boston pilgrims, and he related interesting events of the pilgrimage.

As the liner recommenced its voyage up the harbor other vessels acceded those aboard a noisy welcome, and two Irish boats went out to meet the Presidents Wilson, their crews shrieking and silver streams of water spouting in the air.

Coolidge Bust Gets New Ear

Washington, May 18 (INS).—"Coolidge's" bust left ear was torn off, but it's mended now and everything is all right.

But of the former President, now in the Senate's "Hall of Fame," was damaged while being placed in a niche in the Senate corridor. A twelve-ounce hammer was used against a marble pillar and the left ear was clipped off a thumb by an axe. Some cement was used and the ear restored, though the bust shows traces of the accident.

Cardinal Sends His Thanks to the Boston American

By GEORGE W. HAMBLEN, Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent.

S. A. Presidents Wilson, by Radio, May 18.—Cardinal O'Connell and the returning Rome pilgrims are due at Commonwealth Pier at 3:30 p. m., according to present estimate. All well.

For himself and the other members of the pilgrimage, Cardinal O'Connell asks me to radio thanks for his kindly greetings received today. The Cardinal said that he is thankful for the rich experiences of the past week, but is nevertheless glad to be at home again. That, I believe, is the sentiment of the entire party.

BOSTON AMERICAN GREETING RETURNING PILGRIMS

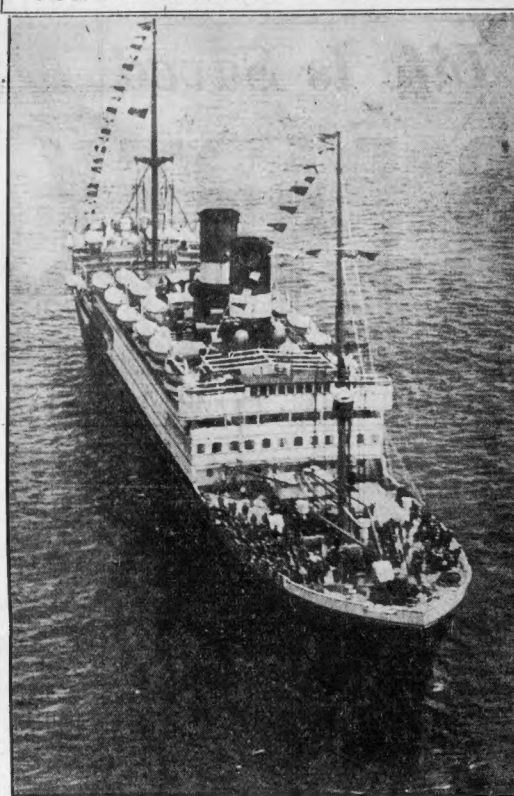

His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell

S. S. Presidente Wilson (at sea) via Chatham American Radio Corp.

To you and to the members of your pilgrim band now approaching the shores of home, the Boston Evening American extends the sincere and heartfelt greeting of city, state and nation. As you have benefited, spiritually and physically, so have we, who could not accompany you, been enriched by the Pilgrimage to Rome. We are happy in your return.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

HAPPY PILGRIMS COME HOME

LYNNAGEMENT OUT ON STRIKE

Lynn householders faced a shortage of ice today when 130 drivers and helpers of the North Shore Ice Delivery Co., the largest distributor of ice in the city, turned in their wagons at noon today. They claim Harry Batchelder, president of the company, refused to sign an agreement with the Teamsters' Union for a 60-hour week.

The strike was precipitated when the drivers and helpers, who say they now work up to 70 hours a week, learned that Batchelder had agreed to a 60-hour week for the employees of his artificial ice plant. The drivers were generally well known to the public, and many of them were seen in the streets, some carrying signs, until about 9 p. m. With the drivers on strike, hundreds of tons of ice will be undelivered to houses and stores.

Walter P. Ryan, attorney for the drivers, said that the union drivers would deliver ice to hospitals and to the sick, but to no others. While Batchelder had no statement to make, his attorney, Edward Sears, declined to say whether drivers would be held responsible for any damage done to the wagon.

Kentuckian Favored for Revenue Office
Washington, May 18.—Appointment of Robert H. Lucas of Louisville, Ky., as collector of internal revenue, succeeding David B. Blair of North Carolina, is expected. Mr. Lucas, who has been in the revenue service since 1904, is believed to be the man who will succeed Blair.

149 Yale Scholarships
New Haven, Conn., May 17 (AP).—The award of 149 fellowships and scholarships amounting to more than $100,000 and 1000 hours of endowment and gifts of more than $250,000 has been given by the Yale graduate school for 1929-30.

Special Editions of American for Rome Pilgrims

Special editions of the Boston Evening American were distributed to the pilgrims in the Cardinal's party on their arrival at Commonwealth Pier today. These papers told the story of the homecoming, which was replete with thrilling moments for the happy travelers who, although enthusiastic about their journey, expressed less pleasure at reaching Boston once more.

Granite State Grads in Harvard Reunion
Manchester, N. H., May 18.—The Harvard Club of New Hampshire at its annual "get-together" at the Manchester Country Club was addressed by Harvard alumni leaders. Bill Bingham, director of athletics at Cambridge; Dean Greenough, president of the club; and the most beloved of Harvard men, Judge Stone of Exeter and Robert H. Hallowell, president of the Associated Harvard Clubs of New England, were the speakers. Dr. Carlton R. Metcalf of Concord, president of the State Association, and E. A. Starck of city, secretary-treasurer, were in charge of the "get-together."

Cardinal Returns in Best of Health From Trip

By ELIAS A. McQUAID

Boston American Staff Writer With Cardinal's Party
Steamship Presidente Wilson of the Council line, bringing Cardinal O'Connell and approximately 100 of the 250 New Englanders who left with him for Rome on April 13, arrived today from Naples by way of Palermo and Lisbon.

A summer sail through the Mediterranean, as the Cardinal's party reported, was followed by a 2500-mile trip, "aboard" reports that the engine trouble of the Graf Zeppelin came from sabotage.

"Where would the sabotage have taken place?" he asked. Dr. Eckener himself has taken charge of the mechanical examination of the motors of his great ship.

As the Graf Zeppelin lay snugly berthed in the one-day harbor of the Italian French dirigible, the motor here, guarded by French blue-jackets, the doctor began preparations to determine what went wrong with four of the Zeppelin's motors.

He intends to withhold judgment, however, until engineers and mechanics come from Friedrichshafen to make a thorough examination of the motors. They were expected tonight with four new motors.

BLAMES CYLINDERS.
"I blame the adjustment of the cylinder heads," he said. "This adjustment is a very delicate operation and I believe the previous motor arrangement was not satisfactory."

"I think we should be able to get the ship in six days and sail for Lakehurst," he said, in an address to the press.

THANKS FRENCH NAVY.
Admiral French, commanding the French navy base at Toulon, called on Dr. Eckener this morning, and the commander of the French navy expressed his thanks to the French navy for the protection and assistance rendered in safely landing the ship.

Dr. Eckener, German ambassador to France, called upon Mr. Laurent-Beynac, minister for aviation at Paris, today and expressed his thanks to the French navy for the protection and assistance rendered in safely landing the ship.

Not all the passengers of the Graf Zeppelin, however, are as enthusiastic as casually as the American pilgrims. Some of the American pilgrims, however, are as enthusiastic as casually as the American pilgrims.

St. George Robert Wilkins, noted English explorer who has traveled all over the world, and who is now on his way to the Arctic region, said:

"I am glad to see the Cardinal and his party. I am glad to see the Cardinal and his party. I am glad to see the Cardinal and his party."

TO RETURN PASSAGE MONEY.
Commander Hugo Eckener announced that all passage money would be refunded to the pilgrims.

Commander Clark, U. S. N., United States naval commander at the pier, where officials did everything that was possible to expedite the departure of the Cardinal's party.

With him went the Rt. Rev. M. J. Spillane, who, without the title of general manager of the pilgrimage, the Cardinal will precede the pilgrims to the pier.

His Eminence Bowed in Grief by Death on Ship

Both of these deaths are believed to have been due to over-exhaustion. Fr. Heffernan, none too strong, and taken part in all the excursionist side trips, some of them exceedingly arduous. WHY COOK LOOKS LIKE SHE KEPT HER PROPERTY

A new court case between Alonzo B. Cook, State auditor, and his wife, Grace J. Cook, opened in superior court yesterday when the wife sued for $1000 on a charge that the auditor had kept her furniture and other property.

The specifications charge that Cook converted to his own use household furniture, musical instruments, ornaments, rugs and other household articles said by Mrs. Cook to belong to her.

A year ago Mrs. Cook was separated from her husband, and she refused to return to her home property rightfully hers.

The State auditor brought in a bill of denial on unusual grounds. Cook made what is known as a "plea in bar" in which he questioned the jurisdiction of the court. This was on the ground that the hearing action is between husband and wife and therefore cannot be maintained.

Dismissal of the suit is asked by the State, through the office of Daniel, Morison and Stubbins. A. French is attorney for Mrs. Cook.

On previous occasions the marital trouble of the Cooks have been in court. A year and a half ago, in suing for divorce, she made surprising charges.

She repeatedly to humiliate her in public, and at one time said he had "kissed her up" in a public place, and into a place.

"He called me a fool when I bought a radio," she added. Another charge was that Cook had his daughter.

HALF AN HOUR LATER, MISS CAROLYN WALKER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker of Brookline, became the bride of Kimball Poulton in the Church of Our Saviour in Longwood.

More than 1500 people witnessed the ceremony of the acceptance of the car load of western lumber to be used in rebuilding many of the houses destroyed by the fire.

Four representatives of members of the original crew of the Ironsides were present, in old colonial costumes.

The frigates, now 60 per cent completed, will make a tour of waterways of America, including Alaska and Hawaii.

Providence, R. I., May 18 (AP)—Dr. Fred P. Manchester of this city was elected to the presidency of the New England Osteopathy Association at the convention here.

Body of Student Flier Taken Home
The body of Floyd Strohbecker, student flier who died at Quincy hospital Thursday from injuries sustained earlier in the day when a plane in which he was flying fell into a tall pipe and crashed in Dorchester Bay, was taken to his home in Sheldon Falls for burial.

Fred Chapman, pilot, who was with him, is still in a serious condition at the hospital.

SEVERAL BOSTON SOCIETY GIRLS ARE BRIDES TODAY

Miss Margaret T. Bowditch Weds Richard S. Paige in Brookline Church

BEFORE A LARGE AND FASHIONABLE AUDIENCE in the First Parish Church in Brookline, Miss Margaret T. Bowditch, daughter of Mr. Fred and Mrs. Bowditch, became the bride of Richard S. Paige in a mid-afternoon ceremony today. Amid a profusion of spring flowers and stately palms these two society favorites exchanged vows, with the Rev. Abbott Petersen officiating. The bride, with her attendant gown in peach and orchid chiffon made a picture long to be remembered in a season of many lovely bridal parties. Miss Bowditch wore the traditional ivory satin, with lace head band carried by the veil following over gleaming long train. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and valley lilies.

THE BRIDE WAS GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her brother, Frederick Bowditch, Jr., Her sister, Mrs. James R. Fraser of Canton, was her matron of honor, in peach chiffon with natural and beehive hair and matching shoes, and her four bridesmaids were in orchid chiffon. This charming group included Mrs. Roger Preston of Newton, another sister of the bride; Mrs. J. P. Parker, Jr., Brookline; Miss Mary P. Bush, Boston, and Miss Ruth Underhill of Newton, dance of the bride's brother.

FRANCIS PAIGE WAS BEST MAN FOR HIS brother, and the usher squared down to seat the 300 or more guests collected at Edward Bowditch, Jr., brother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. R. BRITISH ROYALTY FOR PEACE

London, May 18 (AP)—The British Parliament will be a Parliament determined on peace and reduction of armaments if election speeches and campaign declarations are any criteria. Each leader seems to have tried to outdo the other in stressing those points.

David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, retorted, saying behind closed doors, "You women must stop that," he said the newly enfranchised women voters.

WOMAN FEELS IS OUT TO BREAK RECORD

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—A woman will command one of the two planes which were ordered to attempt today to challenge the world's refueling flight record held by the army plane Quaker.

Announcement of the plans of Mrs. V. A. Gandy, former manager of the women's endurance record, to attempt to better the record of 150 hours 40 minutes and 15 seconds established by the crew of the Quaker from Los Angeles was made simultaneously with a similar announcement on the part of a crew headed by Lieut. H. H. Clarke, former manager of Quaker.

Lieut. Clarke said he planned to take off in a monoplane Monday in an effort to stay aloft 200 hours. His plane will be refueled by a device which will enable him to pick up cans of gasoline from the ground.

Miss Gandy would take off Tuesday morning. Her plane has been christened the Answer. Refueling of the Answer will be from another plane flying under it.

A race between a French and an American crew for the honor of being the first to cross the Atlantic by air appeared today in prospect for next week.

Take off from Teterboro, N. J., on a flight to Rome, will be made by the crew of the Answer, which is headed by Lieut. H. H. Clarke, former manager of Quaker.

STAGE AND SCREEN

NEW FILMS REVEAL LIPS HAVE LUSCIOUS LANGUAGE ALL THEIR OWN ON FOOD OR LOVE

HEEL BEER and a prelat, but neither is REALLY eph, though Corinne Griffith seems to be enjoying her breakfast roll in "Tronero." (Kath-Albee).

SHEIK STUFF, with Robert E. Gorman in the spirit of "This is the Life" with Myrna Loy cuddling up in "The Desert Song." (Olympia and Fenway).

THE ONCE-OVER is the heavy task Maurice Chevalier seems to be performing here in "Innocents of Paris." (Metropolitan).

IT'S STAGE BUSINESS PLUS NOWADAYS

By HAZELIGH SCHULTZ

THERE'S MORE to this motion picture theater business than most folks think. It has its human side, and its mechanical, as well. Take the case of the little boy at the Metropolitan some weeks ago. The personal appearance of a cowboy star of the movies lured the laddie in for the first show. He stayed, and stayed, and stayed—through six personal bows of that star. Meanwhile, his pa and ma had the police out. The playhouse management finally found him, on the front row, late that night. He was asleep. Only one of a thousand odd incidents in the life of the motion picture theater manager.

NOW TO the meat of the story.

He introduced, first of all, to Stephen L. Barrio, one of the youngest managers in the business. He is a splendid executive reins at the Metropolitan, is capable with all of pep and service with the idea of getting the public as the major function of his office. He is to show that Horatio Alibi, a picture which good in the movie game, he said that Stephen Barrio, Manager Barrio, in six years has risen by promotions, from usher in the Public Chain, to head of one of its most important units. He opened up two big city houses for the concern, and then was put in charge of a theater of which Boston has reason to be proud. "The talking pictures are here to stay," he begins. "The box office shows that; the public likes them."

THE TALKIES will be greater than the silent drama ever was. Are now, I think. And the picture like them more and more. For, big business has opened its millions for investment in talking pictures, further proof of the fact that they are here to stay.

ABOUT THEATRE business? "We have about 200 persons in our employ; and the business is divided into departments, and every one important. Business, Advertising, Engineering, Projection, Stage, Maintenance, Maintenance, Financial, not to mention others, including the handling of the staff that each night gives the playhouse its daily bath. We even have a traffic problem of our own-taking care of the crowds, outgoing and incoming."

EVERY PICTURE is run off in advance. For one thing, we have to regulate the sound. For this we use an instrument we call the "talker." It may be interesting to note that sound conditions fluctuate, first with the weather; second, with the very presence of human bodies in the theater. So the "talker" must adjust the sound from the screen.

ANOTHER FEATURE of interest, perhaps. We have on the job throughout theater hours, every day, experts we call "observers." They move from place to place, key positions, whence they telephone instructions to the proper officials, as to sound reception in various parts of the house, etc., and the conduct of other causes, as affecting sound, are immediately met by directions to the operator to turn the "talker" up or down so many points, to regulate the sound to the desired strength."

"Hardboiled"

MYRNA LOY, who rams her dear life and love in "Hardboiled" at the Scollay.

ALIEN ROLES MEAT FOR HER

Although there are undoubtedly many actresses on the screen who are versatile in portraying a variety of roles from an ingenue to a vampire, there are relatively very few who can convincingly delineate young women from many countries. Dorothy Revier, appearing in "Father and Son," syndicated with dialogue and music, playing at the Modern and Beacon, has extended her interpretations pretty nearly around the world. She is a cosmopolitan type and is able to subsume her own personality and character into that of the person she is portraying.

The amusement owners, members of the Amusement Division of the Revere Chamber of Commerce, have organized to make the official opening a gala affair. Each one has arranged something novel to give the line of amusement to provide fun and thrills for the multitude who usually gather at this popular seashore resort.

Prior to the fireworks, which will be set off at 10 o'clock, swimming and diving exhibitions will be given at the Nautilus Swimming Pool and a series of free shows will be given at other points along the boulevard.

Thrilling Six-Day Novel by a Noted Author

Harvey Reynolds, bank executive, confides to his daughter, Nadia, that they are bankrupt. Steve Kirk, son of the bank president, intimates that Reynolds is guilty of embezzlement. Unable to satisfactorily explain a $25,000 shortage, Reynolds is sentenced to serve a ten-year term in prison. Nadia's faith in her father's innocence never wavers. She opens the China Room Tea Room, which is a big bootlegger. He offers her a job. Nadia will marry him. Her rights with her father's statement against his father, friend, Allan Castiblanco, will leave her Nadia, and Ginebra's love or hate cut to wreck vengeance. Nadia for betraying his cause.

CHAPTER 6
It hurt Allen to see Nadia suffer the mental torture of yearning to see Steve Kirk.

The morning brought a note from Steve.
Dear Miss Reynolds:
Yesterday you came to see me because you hoped to be of service to me. Can you come again, I beg to say? If you can I will be glad to return the compliment. I have good news for you.

Sincerely,
STEPHEN KIRK
Good news for her. It seemed absurd, considering his situation. She went to him at once. She had something to tell him. "That is going to make you happy," she said. "I know, really, what to say to him. It seems to be making you happy."

"It does—tremendously. I've kept you in suspense. I've been working on the old Rogers of the trust department. He's really guilty. He stood there, motionless, when I said—"

"Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, a man who is a crook, 'crack bookkeeping,' as they call it. 'Ordinarily it is quite simple to catch him.'"

WOMEN AFTER 'BOYS' WEEK' TO END TODAY
Birmingham, Ala., May 18 (AP)—Senator Thomas J. Heflin in Alabama was called "Admiral" (to be of the Anti-Catholic League) a resolution by the Alabama Women's League for White Supremacy, which is a hate organization. The resolution, adopted at the league's annual convention, declared that the Albanian was "not sufficiently intelligent to be allowed to vote for President Hoover," whose cause he had so long championed.

Senator Heflin asserted several times that he did not vote for the Republican ticket in the Alabama election, but he was accused by Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee.

Boris-His a Darling Boy-Bans Rich U. S. Wife
Sofia, Bulgaria, May 18 (AP)—Although the Bulgarian government regards it as of paramount importance that Boris marry soon to found a dynasty, the premier, Prince Boris, would not appeal to them.

Andre Lapchey, Bulgarian premier, said today: "Our King's marriage with a wealthy American, as he has so often suggested, would be as impracticable as in our country."

The believed sovereign will never marry for money. Wealth, splendor and pomp mean nothing to him; he is only happy when

WHERE VICTIM HONORED GENERAL ORDER

Prattling him as a typical example of the "fidelity, pluck and energy of the American soldier," a general order citing Joseph C. DeWolfe of Newton, field artillery, for work in the recent Burlington fire, reached army headquarters today.

The order said that the Newton boy had been one of 150 soldiers who volunteered to help the fire department. He had been injured and sent to a hospital.

The 19-year-old soldier refused to stay at the hospital after receiving first treatment, and went back to duty. He received other and more painful injuries, including fractured bones in one hand.

The army order cited the boy as having done "outstanding work." Lieut. Frederick E. May of the army base said that DeWolfe was enlisted in the base only last November. The boy is now stationed at Fort Ethan Allen, with Battery A of the 7th Field Artillery.

He is a son of Henry DeWolfe of 24 Fall river, Newton.

It took the Lynn police six months to find the person who has been systematically robbing time phone coin boxes in Lynn and neighboring cities, but they finally got their man.

Edward G. Rundgren of Medford was arrested by inspectors Jack Mucklan and John Sullivan of the Lynn police in Medford. He was running a tip up from a Lynn waitress.

Recently Rundgren broke open a coin box in an East Boston hotel, and was caught by the police. He was arrested in an automobile and not the police.

The police traced the car to a Lynn waitress, whose name they refused to divulge. She said she had loaned her car to a man named Edger who she became acquainted with in the restaurant where she is employed. Shows a picture of Rundgren, who identified him as "Edger."

Fundgren admitted at least 20 breaks in Lynn, Medford, Malden and Boston. He was arrested before Judge Ralph Reese in the Lynn court today and was held in $5,000 for a hearing next Friday.

Fundgren was once employed by the telephone company and knew how to open the coin boxes. He was arrested on a similar charge in 1926. He has a wife and three small children living in Medford.

FALL RIVER GAY FOR OLD HOME WEEK FETE

Fall River, May 18.—Its new business center, gaily decked with bunting, this city today opens its arms in welcome to visitors and old residents arriving for "Old Home Week," which starts tomorrow in celebration of Fall River's 75th birthday.

Special church services will inaugurate the week's activities in which practically every man, woman and child is participating. Besides the many official events, thousands of homes in the city will be scenes of the improved first time the new buildings which have risen on the ruins of the destroyed fire, and they were loud in their praise of the improved appearance of the downtown district.

Fall River's history goes back to 1853, when the town was first founded on the bank of Mt. Hope bay, but it is the 75th anniversary of the city charter. Today the city has a population of approximately 125,000 and an assessed valuation of more than $190,000,000.

The personal property included $24,700 in the Wynam-Gordon estate, $14,537 in the interest department of the Worcester Bank & Trust Company and $13,200 in general Motors.

Worcester, May 18 (AP)—Frank Hathaway, manager of the Wynam-Gordon Company, left an estate of $35,347 in personal property and $25,000 in real estate, according to an inventory filed in probate court.

The personal property included $24,700 in the Wynam-Gordon estate, $14,537 in the interest department of the Worcester Bank & Trust Company and $13,200 in general Motors.

Worcester, May 18 (AP)—A bank agent with offices at 220 Boylston st., was arraigned before Judge Agnew today on a charge of operating an automobile so as to elude the law.

Indoor Fuselage Plane Is Complete Today

By FRANK J. TONIS

Model Airplane Expert for Community Service of Boston, Inc.
 The FUSELAGE or BODY is made from 1-16-inch square balsa wood. Cut four pieces 13 inches long and 12 pieces 1 inch long. Make a frame 13 inches long, 1 inch wide and 1 inch deep. Make two clips of No. 8 piano wire, size shown in Figure 1. Embed them onto the inside of the frame, one to the front frame and the other to the middle frame (3 inches from the front). Cover the front long side of the frame with tissue paper. The body may be made more realistic in appearance by drawing a door and window on the side. See Figure 1.

The tail skid is made of a piece of flat aluminum, split narrow—length is immaterial. Ambroid it to rear of fuselage at

Now look at Figure 2. The LANDING GEAR is made of balsawood $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch by $1\frac{1}{2}$ -inch and No. 8 piano wire. Cut two pieces of the balsawood 4 inches long and two pieces about 3 inches long. Cut the wire about 5 inches long. It is made long enough to permit the prop to turn without touching the floor. The wheels are balsawood $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch in diameter and about $1\frac{1}{2}$ -inch thick. They are attached to a piano wire axle which extends across from one side to the other. The wheels are held in place by a drop of amroid.

TO FLY slip the body over the motor stick and clip in place. Then put on the propeller. Clip wing to the motor stick from the top, slitting the paper where necessary. Adjust for flight as you would any model, that is, by gliding it and moving the wing backward or forward until it glides perfectly.
